

Oriental Techniques

6th – 27th JUN 2017

Tues, Wed, Thurs

9am – 12pm / 10 lessons

Oriental Techniques is a practical based subject designed to develop students skills in utilising the wide range of tools that are commonly used by practitioners.

These techniques include cupping & scraping, various different forms of Moxibustion, bloodletting and Manaka's hammer and needle. For each tool and technique practiced, students will learn the common indications and contraindications.

The application of Moxibustion is globally at the forefront of research into the benefits and effects of traditional medicines. This is largely due to the fact people all around the world are experiencing its incredible benefits. The importance of the art of Moxibustion is demonstrated throughout the course with over half the delivery time dedicated to Moxibustion techniques
